   c. GATT

      Ans: General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade: The agreement from the late 1940s the governed trade policies among members and served as the basis for negotiating tariff reductions. Predecessor of the WTO.

   d. TRIP

      Ans: Trade-Related Intellectual Property: The part of the WTO that requires member countries to have and enforce laws protecting intellectual property – patents, trademarks, and copyrights.

2. Fill in the blanks in the following:

   Two fundamental principles of the GATT and its successor, the WTO, are the MFN Principle and National Treatment. The difference between these is that the MFN principle rules out discrimination, on the part of a country’s trade policies, between other (member) countries while National Treatment rules out discrimination between domestic and foreign firms.

3. Match the following organizations with the economic issues that they primarily deal with, by writing an organization’s name from the list into the blank next to each issue:

Organizations: EU, ILO, IMF, OECD, UNCTAD, WIPO, World Bank, WTO

Labor rights and labor rights  ___________ ILO

Tariffs and other trade barriers in many countries  ___________ WTO

Patents, copyrights, and trademarks  ___________ WIPO

Trade and other economic transactions within Europe  ___________ EU

Provide economic assistance to developing countries  ___________ World Bank

4. Explain the meaning of the following terms

a. Tokyo Round

Ans: The round of multilateral trade negotiations under the auspices of the GATT that occurred during the 1970s and led to reductions in tariff and some NTBs in the 1980s.

b. Dispute Settlement Mechanism

Ans: The procedures within the GATT and WTO for resolving disagreements about trade policy among countries. It includes consultation, recommendation by a three-person panel of experts, and the possibility of appeal.
c. Ministerial

Ans: A meeting of the “trade ministers” of the member countries of the WTO. Ministerials are supposed to take place every two years.

d. Bound tariff

Ans: The upper limit on the tariff that a country can levy on a particular good, according to its commitments under the GATT and WTO.

e. Trade facilitation

Ans: Streamlining the administrative and physical procedures involved in actually moving goods across borders.

f. Market economy status

Ans: The designation of a country as having enough of its economy functioning with markets so that prices in the economy can be used as the basis for assessing dumping. China has not yet been given this status by the United States, which therefore uses prices from other countries in order to determine dumping, to the disadvantage of China.
5. What significant agreement was reached at the WTO Ministerial Meeting in Buenos Aires, Argentina, in December 2017?

Ans: None. The meeting was largely a failure.

6. What is the Appellate Body, and why is it in trouble?

Ans: The Appellate Body is a standing committee of the WTO that reviews the decisions in most dispute settlement cases. It is in trouble because the United States, first under Obama, blocked the reappointment of a member of the Body who had made decisions against the US. And the trouble continues as the Trump administration has blocked further appointments, with the result that the Body will soon, in December 2019, lack a quorum to issue decisions.
