MATH 105
FALL 2010

- Gerardo is one of the best instructors I have had at the university. He is always willing to meet up with me and explain concepts to me when I am having trouble. I enjoy his teaching style and he makes the subject interesting. I am not a huge fan of math but with him teaching the class I have grown to enjoy it.
- He is very good and likes to make sure everyone understands before he moves on which is a plus.
- Gerardo is very knowledgeable of the material covered in class. I can also tell that he truly does want the students to learn and succeed.
- The instructor explains all concepts and problems in a simple manner. If any one in the class ever has any questions or concerns about a problem he will take the time to answer each question individually. He has office hours right after the class, so it is easy for me to get answers of any questions that may arise in class.
- Overall, I like the course, and I think that Gerardo is a really good instructor. He does a good job of explaining and making sure everyone understands. I have been learning a lot, and the workload is not too much. The team homework is good for building teamwork skills, and it helps with understanding how to solve the more difficult problems.
- I like this course overall. I appreciate that the instructor is so polite and makes students feel comfortable asking questions.
- I like doing examples in class. It is good so we can get experience with each section of the chapter.
- Always does a good job making sure every member of the class is understanding content we go over. When students do not understand he is more than willing to help and go over it some more in order to make sure they learn the necessary concepts. Good job.
- I really appreciate the high volume of practice exercises we do in class because it allows any trouble you have with those problems to be addressed with immediately.
- I really like how the instructor writes down everything that we go through. That way if we need to, we can look back at what we've done for reference. He does not skip writing down steps.
