Individual Project Proposal

I propose to investigate oil paint as a technology. This exploration will include both oil paint's application as a communicative, visual tool within the realm of art history as well as other applications, including its use as a sealant both industrially and domestically. My work will also delve into failed and/or non-existent applications of oil paint as a technology.

I will consult many resources including:
