

Corrigendum

Chrysymenia tigillis (Rhodophyta, Rhodymeniales) was described by M. J. Wynne in Phycological Research 53: 215–223 (2005). The epithet was based upon the noun tigillum (s. n. II), “strut”, and the ablative plural tigillis (“with struts”) was used. However, use of the ablative is not in accordance with Art. 23.1 of the ICBN, whereas Art. 32.5 requires that an epithet published with an incorrect Latin termination but otherwise in accordance with the Code be regarded as validly published and be changed to accord with Art. 17, 18, 19, 21, 23, and 24, without change of the author citation or date of publication. In that a noun was used for the epithet, the nominative singular tigillum is here proposed as a word in apposition as the epithet, and Chrysymenia tigillum M. J. Wynne is proposed as the correct form of the binomial. Thus, all uses of Chrysymenia tigillis in Phycol. Res. 53: 215–223 should be altered to Chrysymenia tigillum.
