FINDING IRELAND
A POET’S EXPLORATIONS OF IRISH LITERATURE AND CULTURE
RICHARD TILLINGHAST

Praise for Finding Ireland:

“In this book of literary tourism, Tillinghast includes essays on Ireland’s major literary figures as well as on contemporary Irish culture. . . . What distinguishes this book is Tillinghast’s blend of tourist information and insightful criticism. Whether planning a trip or just fascinated by Ireland’s rich history and literary contributions, readers will enjoy this book. Recommended for public collections.”
—Library Journal

“. . . this book is not about Richard Tillinghast finding himself, but about his helping us to find Ireland. It needs finding because large parts of it seem to have been mislaid, or gone altogether. There is, for instance, the Anglo-Irish tradition. . . . Best of all, are Tillinghast’s chapters on contemporary poets. He has long enjoyed a reputation as one of the top reviewers of poetry in the U.S. . . . Finding Ireland is written for Americans. . . . Yet the book deserves a readership both here and there. It enacts the belief that literature is a form of pleasure, woven out of history and society, and weaving its way into the personal lives of readers anywhere.”
—The Irish Times

“This is the book to give anyone going to Ireland for the first—or the twentieth—time. Tillinghast tells us where traditional music is best heard, and how to look at Gandon’s Custom House and the Rock of Cashel. But he also recognizes that there is, as Yeats reminds us, ‘an Ireland/The poets have imagined, terrible and gay.’ Finding Ireland offers a sensitive introduction to that other Ireland in a series of meditations on Irish writers and the places they evoke for us, abiding presences even in today’s bustling republic of high-rises and industrial parks.”
—Robert Tracy, University of California, Berkeley

“Tillinghast offers an affectionate, questioning exploration of Ireland’s literary inheritance and a poet’s keen sense of the places which have inspired the country’s writers. He is alert, too, to the continuities and changes which characterize current experience.”
—Terence Brown, Trinity College, Dublin

RICHARD TILLINGHAST’s most recent poetry and essay collections are The New Life and Poetry and What Is Real, respectively. He lives in County Tipperary.

Order form  Prepaid orders only.

Please send me _____ copy/copies of Finding Ireland by Richard Tillinghast (ISBN 978-0-268-04232-5) in paper at $25.00 each plus $5.00 p&h for one book and $1 for each additional. *Orders outside the U.S., please add $8.50 for each book ordered (shipped via Air mail). Canadian residents add 5% GST; Illinois residents add 9% sales tax; Indiana residents add 7% sales tax:

_____ Payment by personal check or money order enclosed. (U.S. currency only)
Charge to my: ___ VISA ___ MasterCard ___ American Express ___ Discover
Exp. date: __________
Telephone #: __________________________________________
Account #: __________________________________________
Name: __________________________________________
Ship to: __________________________________________

Mail order to:
UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME PRESS
Chicago Distribution Center
11030 S. Langley Avenue, Chicago, IL 60628
Tel: 800-621-2736 • Fax: 800-621-8476

Or order on the web at:
http://undpress.nd.edu

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME PRESS • 310 FLANNER HALL • NOTRE DAME • IN 46556
*IN THE UK, ORDER FROM: EUROSPAN GROUP c/o Turpin Distribution, Pegasus Drive, Stratton Business Park. Biggleswade, Bedfordshire SG18 8TQ, UK
Tel: +44 (0)1767 604972 • Fax: +44 (0)1767 601640 • Web: www.eurospangroup.com/bookstore