

India, the United States and Nuclear Power

Sanjay Rupporelia, The New School
Tom O'Donnell, University of Michigan

Thursday Dec 6, 2007
8pm
1009, 6 E 16th St.
New York, NY 10011

What are the implications of India's potential nuclear partnership with the United States? Through an engaging discussion a panel of experts will consider the nuclear negotiations of India and United States with a focus on politics, nuclear energy and the role of media.

The engagement of the United States and India in negotiations over nuclear power illustrates that the place of the United States must be considered when thinking about how Asia engages with the production and consumption of energy.

Sponsored by: imagining global asia. South Asia Faculty Forum, Department of Political Science, and the Graduate Program in International Affairs

Next Global Energy Forum Event:
February 2008: The role of India and China in Africa