York College on the March

Over the past year,

York College has been “on the move.” In spring 2006, it was more than moving – it was on the March!, earning national accreditation for the teacher education program and reaccreditation of the nursing program; adding a new and unique bachelor’s degree in Aviation Management to the existing 44 academic majors; and, the York College Foundation launched the first widespread merit scholarship program to bring the best and the brightest students to the college as we celebrate our 40th anniversary during the 2006-07 academic year. It was also a season to honor alumni and friends; highlight York College’s place in cultural and civic communities; showcase student activities; and demonstrate the campus’s vibrant intellectual life.

Pictured are three of the finest seniors from 2006: Yi Di Zhang, who was awarded a full graduate fellowship from the Stevens Institute of Technology; Yisa Rumala, recipient of a National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowship; and Vanessa Crevecoeur, winner of a UNCF/Merck Undergraduate Science Research Fellowship.
